

Duck Shooting and Hunting Sketches

Duck shooting is both science and an art. Seasoned duck shooters smile at the quail hunter, the snipe shooter, and the man who eases around after prairie chickens. They are parlor shooters. Duck hunters take their lives in their hands quite a bit. The marshes and lakes take something of a toll of human life, and more than a few good fellows have gone under in sink-holes, perished from exposure, or drowned in sight of shore while following their favorite hobby. You need to be some resemblance to a man to go after ducks year in and year out. Duck Shooting & Hunting Sketches are the tales of the hunt from the Golden Age of this shooting sport.
