

News Accounts of Shark Attacks

My e-book is a collection of newspaper accounts of real-life attacks by sharks on surfers, swimmers, and scuba divers. The news stories begin in the early 20th century and continue until the early 21st century. I hope that the text will alert readers to the threat of sharks, who because of poor eyesight, often mistake human hands and feet for bait fish. Sharks sometimes venture into shallow water, when they follow schools of small fish into inlets. Their attacks on people occur when they are trapped by sandbars from escaping into the open water. In the ocean sharks come nearer the shore during times when sea water is quite warm. Some of the victims documented by newspapers were certainly more fortunate than others.
