

I Was Born to Love, Not to Cook

My story is true, but since its been so many years, some of the facts may have been compromised. As a child I always enjoyed writing short poems, mostly concerning the boy I was crazy about at the time. I even wrote the lyrics to a song and my neighbor wrote the music. It was copy written more than fifty years ago, but never made the hit parade. The poems got larger as I got older, and so did I. Since I always wanted to write a book, I wrote short books for each of my six grandchildren. I always wanted to write my life story, but kept putting it off. Now at the age of seventy five I decided not to put it off any longer. I hope this book will provide you with entertainment, memories, maybe a few tears and even some laughter; okay, perhaps a chuckle.
